

Japanese Streetscapes

日本の町並み

Local Portland architect Rick Browning traveled to 8 major Japanese cities to study pedestrian-oriented aspects of streetscape design, including: landscaping, urban furnishings, paving patterns, signage, lighting and storefront displays.

Thrill to exquisite storefronts, multi-story bike parking garages, shared sidewalks, sumptuous paving patterns, artistic wayfinding signage and LED encrusted plazas. Out of all of this - Rick will attempt to find some alternative ideas for current Portland street projects.
